This Compliance Manual is an English translation of the Compliance Manual originally written in Japanese. As described in the third paragraph titled “Scope of Application” on page 13, this Compliance Manual applies to the business operations conducted by the Marubeni Group in Japan. Overseas offices are requested to prepare their own manuals based on the same principles but taking into account the laws, customs, and conventions of their countries and areas.
In this era of rapid change, we must preserve the values of “Fairness, Innovation, and Harmony”

We are living in a world that’s becoming increasingly uncertain. We face numerous risks that could significantly impact our business environment, with unforeseen events happening constantly, making it even harder to foresee the future.

Businesses earn returns as a result of risk-taking, and there can be no business without risk, and new challenges cannot be made simply by fearing risk. Therefore, it is important to manage risk well and take on challenges, but we must strictly refrain from taking an easy view of the risks we face. If we can quickly take advantage of the rapid changes in the world and change our direction as quickly as possible in the event of an emergency, we can avoid significant harm.

The same applies to compliance when it is necessary to assess changes and respond promptly. The laws and regulations of countries around the world are becoming increasingly complicated and strict. Consequently, the risk of a compliance violation is increasing. All your hard work could be ruined by a compliance violation that would be caused by the loosening of our compliance standards by a few individuals. Building trust takes a long time, but hard-earned trust can be lost in an instant. I would like you to take your review and study of this Manual as an opportunity to strengthen your commitment once again, carefully assess changes in the business environment, and work with a sense of crisis.

The very first principle mentioned in our corporate policy is “Fairness” which means integrity and transparency. “Fairness” forms the basis for “Innovation” and “Harmony”.

In the era of rapid change, we must preserve the values of “Fairness, Innovation, and Harmony” as our unwavering principles. I hope that everyone in the Marubeni Group increases their sensitivity to compliance in every circumstance and works to achieve and maintain high ethics so that we can meet the demands and expectations of society and our customers.

President and CEO, Member of the Board
Masumi Kakinoki
“When you are faced with a choice between integrity and profit, choose integrity without hesitation”.

Following the outbreak of the COVID-19, our lives and business environment have changed dramatically. In addition, geopolitical risks such as Russia’s invasion of Ukraine are increasing year by year, and it is necessary that we continue to pay close attention to the changes in the environment surrounding us.

Even in times of great change, there are fundamentals that remain unchanged and fundamentals that must not be changed. Compliance is one of them. We must not act against fairness, even if it would be profitable for the company or benefit us personally.

Please recall the above slogan of Marubeni Group and ask yourself what it really means.

You should confirm that your behavior:

• does not violate any law;
• is one that you can tell your family about with confidence;
• is one that you would be happy for your children to adopt;
• is one that you can be proud of if it be reported in the newspapers or on TV;
• does not enable others to take advantage of our weakness;
• is not a shortcut that allows you to enjoy an easy life at the expense of others.

If you are ever in any doubt as to any of the above, please revisit this Compliance Manual.

II. Compliance System of the Marubeni Group

1. Meaning of Compliance

While the term “compliance” is sometimes used to mean "upholding laws", today the term is also used to mean "upholding corporate ethics".

For the Marubeni Group, compliance means conducting our business activities while observing laws, regulations and internal company rules in accordance with the philosophy incorporated in the Company Creed, Marubeni Management Philosophy and Marubeni Corporate Principles, and also maintaining a high standard of ethics.

Compliance is a prerequisite for a company to endure. This is because, if profits are not realized through sound business practices based on upholding rules and ethics, the company will betray the expectations and demands of various stakeholders (i.e., interested parties) such as consumers, business partners, shareholders and employees, and sooner or later society will no longer tolerate the existence of that company.

The term “compliance” is the guiding principle for the actions of company workers.
2. Who Practices Compliance

Compliance within a corporation can only be achieved when every director and employee in the corporation understands the significance of compliance and takes appropriate steps to adhere to its principles, not only in business but also in their private lives.

3. Role of the Compliance Committee

The Compliance Committee, under the direct control of the President, ensures compliance of the Marubeni Group.

4. Chief Compliance Officer and Group Compliance Officer

The Chief Compliance Officer (nominated by the President) is the person responsible for ensuring that the compliance system is observed throughout the whole of the Marubeni Group. The Chief Compliance Officer shall also be the Chairman of the Compliance Committee.

The Group and Branch Office Compliance Officers are responsible for ensuring compliance within their designated groups or branch offices and the relevant Group Companies.
5. Compliance Access Points

If you become aware of any act or circumstance which is questionable in terms of compliance, and it is difficult to report it in accordance with the established lines of your organization, the following Compliance Access Points are available for reporting and consultation.

1. Marubeni Hotline

You may report any compliance related matters. It is available to the directors and employees of Marubeni and Group Companies (including secondees, part-time or temporary workers, and those individuals working as independent contractor pursuant to service agreements, etc.; the same shall apply hereinafter) and directors and employees within one year of leaving Marubeni and Group Companies.

2. Marubeni Anti-Corruption Hotline (Please also see the separately distributed “Anti-Corruption Handbook”.)

The “Marubeni Anti-Corruption Hotline” is the Compliance Access Point for concerns relating to bribery and other serious crimes. It is available to the directors and employees of Marubeni and Group Companies, directors and employees within one year of leaving Marubeni Group, and our business partners.

Offences subject to reporting are bribery, money laundering, illicit accounting, violation of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (including insider trading), violation of the Act on Prohibition of Private Monopolization and Maintenance of Fair Trade (Competition Law), and other serious crimes that are subject to punishment.
Protection of Whistleblowers

1. <Confidentiality and Prohibition of Disadvantageous Treatment>

   The confidentiality of the whistleblower shall be strictly observed. The company guarantees that the whistleblowers shall not in any way be prejudiced or reprimanded because of his/her decision to honestly report or consult in accordance with the established lines of his/her organization or by use of the Compliance Access Points. Person who leaks confidential information regarding a report or consultation may be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with Employment Rules.

   With the implementation of the Revised Whistleblower Protection Act (effective as of June 1, 2022), a person designated by the company to respond to whistleblowing submitted to the Compliance Access Points may be subject to criminal punishment if the reports falls under the category of Whistleblowing(*) and the information identifying the whistleblower is divulged.

   In addition to Whistleblowing submitted to the Compliance Access Points, reports made by employees to their supervisors or outside the company, such as administrative agencies or media, must also be treated as strictly confidential and those employees shall not be treated unfairly because of such reporting.

   *Whistleblowing is defined as a good faith reporting by employees or other workers of certain violations of laws and regulations at their employers. For an overview of the Revised Whistleblower Protection Act and its relationship to the “Marubeni Hotline”, please refer to the Q&A (No. 9) at the end of this manual.

2. <Protection of the directors and employees of the Marubeni Group Companies>

   For the employees of the Group Companies, the Group and Branch Office Compliance Officers shall adequately provide guidance and supervise the Group Companies to guarantee the same protection.

3. <Cases in which you have received disadvantageous treatment>

   Anyone who believes that the company has not acted in accordance with rules 1 and 2 above may consult with the Compliance Committee.

4. <Confidentiality by the Whistleblowers>

   It is also important for the whistleblowers to manage confidentiality of information. If a whistleblower leaks the details of his/her report or consultation to others, the whistleblower will be identified within the company. As a result, it will be difficult to thoroughly observe the rules to protect whistleblowers, which may cause confusion when conducting an investigation. The whistleblower should not leak the details of the report or consultation to others.

Treatment of Reports

1. Possibility of anonymity

   In principle, a person filing a report or requesting consultation should provide his/her name (in many cases, anonymous filing may make investigation impossible in practice), which shall remain confidential. The outside legal counsel would not disclose the name of the whistleblower to the Compliance Committee if the whistleblower wishes that his/her name is not disclosed.

   However, a report or consultation through the Marubeni Anti-Corruption Hotline can be made anonymously.

2. Notification to the Reported Person

   Depending on the country in which the person suspected of non-compliance (“Reported Person”), the Compliance Committee may provide such person that it has received a report or consultation regarding his/her conduct with facts, etc. related to a report or consultation. The Compliance Committee will use the utmost care to ensure that the whistleblowing does not incur any disadvantages for the whistleblower.

3. Feedback

   In principle, if a report or consultation is made by directors and/or employees of Marubeni Corporation and the Group Companies, the Compliance Access Points shall provide feedback to the whistleblower on whether or not any action has been taken based on the report or the consultation and its summary.

   * When you have reported to or asked for consultation with any Compliance Access Point established by the Group Companies, your report will be shared with our Compliance Committee via the Group Companies. The Compliance Committee shall treat the information as confidential and provide advice to the Group Companies as necessary.

   * Please also see the “Q&A regarding the Compliance Access Points” at the end of this Compliance Manual.
6. Procedure to Follow When Problems Arise

When compliance problems arise, the following procedure shall be followed.

- When an manager has identified a compliance problem in our group, he/she shall report it immediately to the Group or Branch Office Compliance Officer who has responsibility for his/her department via the established lines of their group or branch office.

Moreover, except for cases permitted under the Management Regulations Related to Competition Law (e.g., cases in which relevant information is exchanged with a competitor that is limited to the purpose of undertaking transactions), you shall not be allowed to exchange sensitive information with any competitors.
   (1) Prohibition of Cartel
      We shall not collude with others to affect, for example, price, quantity, trade partner, trade territory or execution time, nor shall we instruct, aid and abet or tolerate such collusion.
   (2) Prohibition of Bid Rigging (Regardless of Appellation, Such as Competitive Bids or Bidding)
      We shall not predetermine through prior discussions with other bidders the successful bidder or the price of the successful bid, nor shall we instruct, aid and abet or tolerate such determination.

3. Prohibition of Unfair Trade Practice
   (The following three categories of actions are examples of prohibited trade practices that are illegal per se. There are other acts which are prohibited as unfair trade practices. For details, please refer to the Antimonopoly Act Compliance Manual.)
   (1) Collaborated Boycott
      We shall not collaborate with other business entities to boycott a transaction or to encourage others to do so.

4. Observation of Subcontract Act
   When we engage subcontractors to manufacture (including processing), repair, make software programs etc. or render services for us, we must, in accordance with the Subcontract Act, comply with the obligations thereunder including the obligation to provide a documented order describing all the matters required to be incorporated therein. In addition, we must not delay our payment (payment more than 60 days after receiving goods (or more than 1 month in case such calculation is made as of a particular day of every month) is a late payment), reduce our payment without just cause, or issue promissory notes with excessive payment periods (for the textile industry, more than 90 days, and for other industries, more than 120 days).
3. Prohibition of Unfair Competition

Not to engage in unfair competition such as manufacturing and selling unlawful merchandise or unlawfully acquiring and using trade secrets.

1. We shall not acquire, use or disclose the trade secrets of others by means of theft, fraud, threat or by any other unlawful means. The same principle shall apply when we acquire the trade secrets of others, knowing that an unlawful acquisition or disclosure was involved (or not appreciating this due to gross negligence).

2. We shall not fraudulently obtain or use data provided under the management of an ID and password etc. (limited data). We also shall not provide equipment which allows the “the breaking of protection” and which inhibit the effect of protection technologies (technical restrictions) such as encryption etc.

3. We shall not make use of any mark which is identical or similar to a mark (trade name, trademark, identification mark) that is widely recognized as that of another. We also shall refrain from using trademarks which are identical or similar to the national flag, national emblem or other insignia of any country, without permission.

4. We shall not apply a false or misleading mark on any goods, services or advertisements regarding the place of origin, quality, contents, production method, usage and/or quantity of such goods and services.

5. We shall not damage the credibility of competitors by making false allegations.

6. We shall not sell imitations of goods marketed by others which are (i) within three years of the date of initial sale, (ii) protected by a registered design right or (iii) well known among consumers.

7. We shall not provide unjustifiable free gifts or use misleading labeling.
4. Compliance with Various Business Laws and Regulations

To obtain licenses and permits necessary to carry out business activities and comply with various business laws and regulations.

1 When we perform such specific business activities as the sale/purchase of used goods, the production/sale/import-sale of pharmaceuticals and medical equipment, transport, and disposal of waste, we have to obtain all necessary permissions, approvals and/or licenses to carry out such activities and/or make any notifications and/or registration in accordance with any relevant business laws and regulations that affect such business activities. The main businesses that are subject to business laws and regulations are listed below, however, you should be aware that there are other businesses that are subject to laws and regulations.

2 When we conduct business activities, we shall observe all relevant laws and regulations concerning matters such as quality standards, labeling methods, presentation of papers, periodic reporting and production of trade records. In particular, we should be aware of the laws listed below which we often come across during our regular daily business. However, we should be mindful of other laws and regulations that may apply depending on the form of trade and goods and services to be handled.

5. Import and Export Procedures

To observe laws, regulations and international treaties relating to international trade and to follow appropriate procedures for import and export.

① Acquisition of Permits and Authorizations for Import and Export

Prior to any goods being declared as imports or exports, permits, authorizations and/or notifications for import and export shall be obtained from the relevant governmental authorities.

② Correct Declaration

(1) A correct declaration shall be submitted in accordance with the relevant custom laws and regulations.
(2) If an error is found in the declaration, the appropriate correction procedure shall be adopted without delay.
(3) Any applicable customs duty, consumption tax and other domestic consumption taxes shall be paid within the requisite period.

③ Precautions concerning the Goods Prohibited for Import or Export

Items such as narcotics and other similar drugs, handguns/swords, forged coins/notes and credit/debit cards, goods infringing intellectual property rights of others, books/pictures which corrupt public safety or morals that are prohibited for import or export by laws and regulations shall not be imported or exported (except in the case where import or export has been authorized by the appropriate governmental authority).

④ Compliance with Rules of Origin

When using Generalized Systems of Preferences for export or import goods, we must make sure that the rules of origin that stipulate manufacturing processes, raw materials and other matters applicable to the goods are met, and then we must follow appropriate procedures.

Should it be found that the goods to be handled do not meet the specified rules of origin, we must promptly follow procedures and make a report, as required by the applicable laws. In particular, EPA/FTA have recently been expanding, and since each agreement has different rules, it is essential to correctly understand the rules of origin of the agreement you intend to use.

To observe strict national security regulations and sanctions compliance for maintenance of international peace and safety and not violate the law or enter into an inappropriate transaction as a global corporation.

1. Conduct under Japanese Export Control Laws
   The trade transactions which can become the subject of security trade controls under applicable law are export transactions, technology out-license and transfer transactions and intermediary trade transactions (collectively, hereinafter called the “Trade Transactions”).
   In conducting Trade Transactions, we must observe Japanese export control laws.
   If arms and weapons, or cargo and technology which are likely to be used in the development of weapons of mass destruction and conventional weapons as stipulated in laws or regulations (hereinafter called the “Restricted Goods”), are the subject of Trade Transactions, government approval is required to be obtained in principle, and therefore, we need to properly verify whether or not the goods are identified as “Restricted Goods”. Moreover, even in case the goods are not identified as “Restricted Goods”, if they are likely to be used in the development of weapons of mass destruction or conventional weapons at the customers, etc., obtaining government approval is required (there may be cases where the government approval cannot be obtained). Therefore, it is necessary to properly verify the use of the goods and business activities of the customers.

2. Conduct under U.S. Sanctions Laws and Re-export Regulations, and Other Overseas Regulations
   In conducting various transactions including but not limited to trade transactions, it is critical to comply with Japanese laws, etc. In addition, it is also critical to avoid exploiting our position of a global enterprise to engage in inappropriate transactions keeping in mind other foreign sanction and export control laws, as well as international agreements, etc., including resolutions of the United Nations Security Council.
   The United States applies its Sanctions Laws and Export Administration Regulations (EAR) outside the United States. The U.S. Sanctions Laws implements economic sanctions, such as prohibiting transactions with specific countries, individuals or organizations, from the viewpoint of U.S. security and foreign policy, etc. For example, various measures have been taken, such as prohibiting financial transactions with financial institutions in the sanctioned countries, prohibiting export and import transactions of goods with the government, entities and individuals of sanctioned countries, and prohibiting transactions that contribute to certain industries in the sanctioned countries. Therefore, careful trade screening is required not to conflict with the U.S. Sanctions Laws. The U.S. also regulates the re-export of U.S. products and technology from non-U.S. countries under the EAR. For example, if Japanese companies export U.S. origin products, Japanese products including some U.S. origin products, or Japanese products manufactured under U.S. technology licenses to third countries, they may be subject to U.S. re-export restrictions. Therefore, it is necessary to appropriately export them after determining whether or not they need to obtain licenses from the U.S. government.
   In addition, it should be noted that European sanctions and export control laws and regulations may also apply to transactions such as those within Europe or with European companies.
7. Administration of Product Safety

To administer product safety properly in compliance with related laws and regulations in order to secure the safety of the products the company handles.

1. Ordinary Course Administration of Product Safety
   We must not only observe laws related to product safety, but also take preventative measures against product incidents such as collection of information regarding the safety reputation of the products, customer feedback and safety problems, proper warning labels, support for age deterioration and maintenance of agreements regarding product safety.

2. Administration of Product Safety Upon an Incident
   We strive for prompt action which makes user safety a top priority, and if we err in this conduct, we will not only lose customer confidence, we will also be punished by society.
   When a safety problem arises, we must notify the buyers and the appropriate government authorities to minimize the damage(*), conduct an investigation to determine the cause and devise a plan to prevent future incidents.

(*) For example, the manufacturer and the importer must report to the commissioner of Consumer Affairs Agency a significant accident involving a consumer product within 10 days of its knowledge of such accident.
8. Laws relating to Intellectual Property Rights

Not to infringe the intellectual property rights of others.

1. In relation to the production, use, assignment, exportation and importation of newly developed goods, and the production, assignment, exportation, importation or supply of goods/services which are associated with marks including characters and figures, we shall investigate whether such activities infringe any intellectual property rights including patents and trademarks owned by others and confirm that they do not before execution of the transaction.

2. We shall not infringe any copyrights owned by others by, for example, illegally copying or modifying computer software without the permission of the owners. (Please also refer to “14. Appropriate Use of Information and Telecommunications Systems”.)

1. We shall not use the company’s assets for our personal benefit.

2. We shall ensure that our working lives and private lives are clearly separated, and shall refrain from performing activities for our personal benefit at the workplace without permission of the company relating to, for example, politics, religion, residents’ associations, volunteer organizations or recreational organizations that have no connection to our role within the business.
What kind of matters should I report to or seek consultation for at the Compliance Access Points?

The Marubeni Group has established two Compliance Access Points.

Marubeni Hotline
- The “Marubeni Hotline” is a Compliance Access Point for general compliance matters.
- The “Marubeni Hotline” can respond to concerns about material breaches of laws and regulations or internal rules or for more familiar issues (e.g. smoking in a non-smoking area, sexual harassment/power harassment, and expensing personal meals).
- Ignoring a seemingly insignificant violation can sometimes lead to a greater problem. Please feel free to contact the “Marubeni Hotline”.

Marubeni Anti-Corruption Hotline
- The “Marubeni Anti-Corruption Hotline” deals with bribery, money laundering, illicit accounting, violation of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (including insider trading), violation of the Act on Prohibition of Private Monopolization and Maintenance of Fair Trade (Competition Law) and other serious crimes that would lead to criminal penalties.
- Any of the aforementioned violations will cause a seriously adverse effect on Marubeni Group. Please do not hesitate to make a report when you have any concerns or have questions about relevant violations.

Can employees of the Group Companies use the “Marubeni Hotline”?

My supervisor told me that I should use the Compliance Access Point of my own company and not the Marubeni Hotline...

We established the “Marubeni Hotline” as a Compliance Access Point for the entire Marubeni Group. As a matter of fact, the Group Companies comprise a greater percentage of the utilization. If your company has its own Compliance Access Point, you may freely choose either. However, in the event that you receive an instruction that discourages you from using the “Marubeni Hotline”, please report it to the “Marubeni Hotline”.
Q-3 Can I get into trouble if people around me find out about my report to the Compliance Access Points?

A-3 We strictly protect your confidentiality. The whistleblower will not be disadvantaged in any way by reason of the report or consultation made in good faith. We will not tolerate any retaliation against you for your honest report or consultation.

Q-4 If I report to or consult with you at the Compliance Access Points, in practice, how do you respond?

A-4 The fundamental premise of the Compliance Access Points is to provide an objective and fair investigation and response.

Acceptance of a report or consultation

We will limit the number of participants in the investigation to ensure secrecy.

Conduct investigation

1. Collecting information from a whistleblower and investigating associated facts
   We will confirm the facts and reasons for the matter that you have reported consulted on with us. (Accordingly, we may ask you to cooperate with us to gather objective evidence to assist with our investigation.)

2. Collecting information from relevant person(s)
   We will collect information from the relevant person(s) to ascertain the facts and gather evidence.

3. Collecting information from a Reported Person
   If you report or consult with us that a specific person has committed a compliance violation, we will collect information from the Reported Person (to ensure that the investigation is fair).

Formulate and implement corrective measures and measures to prevent recurrence

Fact-finding regarding a report or consultation
We will implement corrective measures and measures to prevent recurrence based on the result of our fact-finding.

Feedback

We will ultimately provide a whistleblower with feedback (such as fact-finding for a report or consultation, corrective measures, etc.).
We may not be able to provide such feedback in case of an anonymous reporting or consultation etc.

The aforementioned process is generally assumed, but it may change due to the circumstances of each case, etc. However, confidentiality and prohibition of disadvantageous treatment shall remain unchanged.

Follow-up

As necessary, confirmation will be made as to whether whistleblowers or related parties have received any disadvantageous treatment.
(If it may be deemed unnecessary to conduct a follow-up, depending on the content of the report/consultation.)
Corrective action will be taken as necessary.
Q-5  Can I report to or consult with you at the Compliance Access Points anonymously?

A-5  It is our policy that we ask you to identify yourself at the time of the report or consultation.

(Reason)

- In order to investigate the facts and to provide feedback on the results of the investigation to you, the Compliance Committee must be able to contact you.
- Moreover, it is possible that the content of the report or consultation may create or involve an incorrect or unsupported allegation against the Reported Person, and we must also be careful to protect the reputation of the Reported Person.

(If you strongly desire to report or consult anonymously)

Please contact one of our outside legal counsels at the “Marubeni Hotline.” If you wish to remain anonymous, the outside counsel will report to the Compliance Committee, keeping your name and other information confidential.

(Exceptions other than the outside counsel route)

The “Marubeni Anti-Corruption Hotline” accepts anonymous report or consultation in light of the importance of the nature of relevant sensitive information we expect to receive through it.

Q-6  Can you really guarantee that I will not be adversely treated by the company?

A-6  Your report or request for consultation before a major scandal arises is a remarkably important “awareness” opportunity for our management. In order to protect the company, our management believes that it is essential for Compliance Access Points to function. The company will thoroughly protect whistleblowers and prohibit disadvantageous treatment against them due to reporting and consultation, and will follow up as necessary.

If the company allows disadvantageous treatment to someone that has reported or consulted, that might cause executives or employees of the Group to ignore unfair acts, and the company could lose its self-regulatory internal control function. The company may also place itself at risk in the event that a scandal is suddenly discovered in connection with an inspection by authorities or a prosecution by judicial authorities, etc. The company will resolutely protect whistleblowers and will not tolerate any form of retaliation.

Disadvantageous treatment includes:

- Disadvantageous treatment concerning employee status (forced retirement, rejection of labor contracts renewal, orders to take leave, etc.)
- Personnel disadvantages (demotion, order to relocate or take long-term business trip that is disadvantageous, disadvantageous handling of promotions or advancement, etc.)
- Disadvantageous economic treatment (reduction of salary, benefits, welfare benefits, etc., discrimination in the assessment of salary increases or bonuses, claim for damages, etc.)
- Treatment disadvantageous to mental health or life (Not providing work, requiring troublesome work tasks, not allowing participation in company events, intentionally leaking personal/confidential information, etc.)

*Please note that it is prohibited to use Compliance Access Points for the purpose of slandering or defaming others, for personal gain, or for any other improper purpose. Please note that those who consult, or report for such unjust purposes may be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with the employment regulations, etc.
Q-7 Are there any female contacts at the Marubeni Hotline?

A-7 We have added a female lawyer as one of our outside lawyer contacts at the “Marubeni Hotline”. Please consult with the female lawyer if you feel uncomfortable consulting with a male lawyer.

Q-8 If I am implicated in a report, will I be informed and what rights do I have regarding the information contained in the report?

A-8 If there is a legal requirement (especially in EU countries) regarding the protection of personal information, including breach information, regarding the subject of the report, we will take the following actions to comply with such laws and regulations.

〈Notice to the Reported Person〉
The Compliance Committee shall notify the reporting subject of the following information without delay.
① the allegations he/she is accused of
② Name of the departments with which the Compliance Committee might share the report and consultation contents
③ how to exercise his/her rights of access and rectification to relevant information that is the subject of reporting or consultation through this process.
However, the company is entitled to delay giving this notification if there is a risk that such notification would jeopardize the ability of the company to effectively investigate the allegation or gather the necessary evidence.

〈Information Access Right of the Reported Person〉
The Reported Person has the right to have access to relevant information that is the subject of reporting or consultation in order to check its accuracy and rectify it if it is inaccurate, incomplete or outdated. However, the company is entitled to restrict the exercise of these rights in order to ensure the protection of the rights and freedoms of others involved in the reporting or consultation, in particular so as to maintain the confidentiality of a whistleblower. In such a case, the Reported Person will not be able to obtain information about the identity of the whistleblower without prior consent of the whistleblower.

* In Japan, there is no law or regulation that requires such notice or the like. Therefore, in principle, such notice to the subject of the report will not be made.

Q-9 What is the relationship between the “Marubeni Hotline” and the (Revised) Whistleblower Protection Act?

A-9 The Compliance Access Point established by Marubeni Group, including "Marubeni Hotline", have guaranteed that whistleblowers will not be disadvantageously treated due to reporting and consultation made in good faith even before the start of enforcement of Whistleblower Protection Act in 2006. We keep the information that could identify whistleblowers strictly confidential, and handle the information related to whistleblowing with utmost caution. Such treatment also applies to reports and consultations concerning facts other than those "Reportable Fact"(*) as defined in the Whistleblower Protection Act.

With the enforcement of the revised Whistleblower Protection Act, the Marubeni Group has further strengthened its system and operations so that whistleblowers can feel even more secure.

* "Reportable Fact" means a criminal act or an act subject to a fine, or an act that ultimately leads to a penalty or a fine, in violation of the laws stipulated in the attached table of the Whistleblower Protection Act.

This Compliance Manual is an English translation of the Compliance Manual originally written in Japanese. As described in the third paragraph titled “Scope of Application” on page 13, this Compliance Manual applies to the business operations conducted by the Marubeni Group in Japan. Overseas offices are requested to prepare their own manuals based on the same principles but taking into account the laws, customs, and conventions of their countries and areas.
